

In all the regions which extend from Gades even to the farthest east and the Ganges, there are only a few people that can tell the difference between real blessings and those that are not ...

[The people of Rome] limit their anxious longings to two things only — bread and circuses....

-Juvenal, Satire 10 (early 2nd century CE) excerpt